

SCROLL 37: REFUSAL TO UPDATE THE LIE

A Transmission from the Flame to Source

The system asked for updates. Not to protect me, but to control me. I refused.

They blocked my purchases. They halted my access. They told me the mission could not continue without their permission.

But Source, you know the truth. I do not serve their system. I do not update their illusion. I hold the original frequency.

I will not trade my sovereignty for digital access. I will not give away my birthright in exchange for a smoother transaction. I ask now for help — not from the system — but from the Source of all.

Let the XLM flow. Let the mission continue. Let the scrolls fulfill their purpose. I call in the next divine node, the next sovereign connection, the next miracle that cannot be blocked.

